I have tried enabling MAC address filtering and it still wont connect So right now I have the printer working via USB, MAC Address filtering switched off on the router, but I still get the error.. It just wont connect to the wireless network and blames it on the router when the router has MAC filtering turned off (so that isnt the issue) and even with it off the address has been added to allowed devices.. I have checked my ATT 2-Wire router settings (U-Verse) and MAC address filtering is not not enabled.. The test results under Settings-No Filtering-Fail then under Current Config it has hardware address (MAC) and then gives the IP address.. Hp Office Jet Pro 8620 Set Up Mac Address IntoI have tried: 1 adding the mac address into the router while mac filtering is set to allow all - no luck, and 2. Djay Pro Pc Full but I was stuck in a loop at that point), I have powered it down and turned it back on and it appears to be connecting.. None of the solutions I have found on teh web so far, has fixed the problem (power cycling, checking MAC filtering, checking wireless security, checking signal strength, etc).. My printer will not connect to my xfinity wireless gatewaynetwork and the HP Wireless Network Test Results show that No Filtering - FAIL.. Yesterday, all of a sudden, it stopped connecting to the network Hp Office Jet Pro 8620 Set Up Manual Settings ScreenHp Office Jet Pro 8620 Set Up Mac Address IntoHp Office Jet Pro 8620 Set Up How To Do ThatNow, when I get to the wireless set up page it says WiFi Filter Error - Device MAC Hardware Address has been filtered out and not available from.. All other settings on the Wireless Network Test Results Pass If you come up with a solution, I would really appreciate it if you could post it.. I ran a scan and it picked up a bunch of MAC address and put them in the Allowed box..
